EXOSTAND A new concept for plasterboard walls

Thanks to the "T" shape and the high and rigid structure of the column, part of the load is returned to the ground: your wall is 6x less stressed.

$$F_h = M \times G \times d / H$$

- F_h = horizontal tensile force (Nm)
- M = mass at the center of gravity (Kg)
- G = gravitational constant (9.81)
- d = distance from the center of gravity (m)
- H = height between top and bottom points (m)

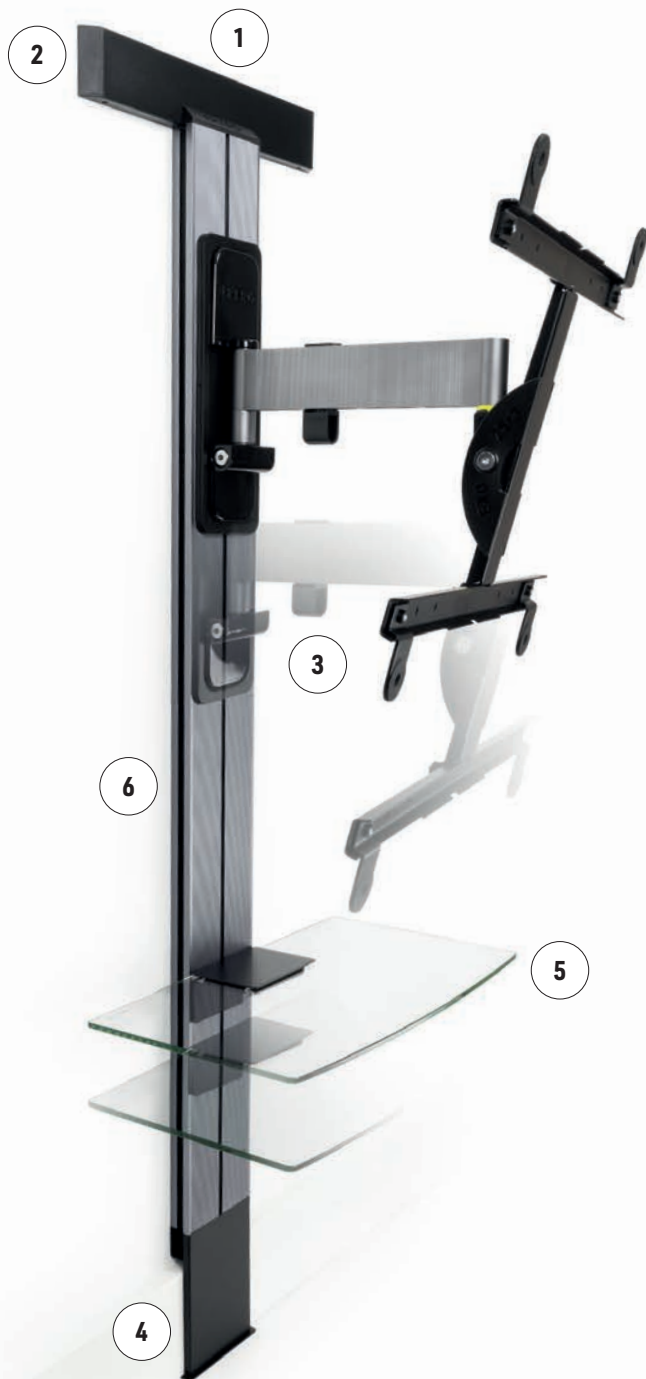

* Our pull tests conducted with a charge of 123 kg on common plasterboard type "BA13" (thickness 12.5 mm) guarantee a perfect fixing on your wall, without the need to attach to the studs.
